SCOLARITÉ :

30 crédits, Premier cycle

OBJECTIFS :

This program, intended for a diverse clientele, aims to respond to participants' personal and professional needs by allowing them to develop knowledge and competencies related to understanding, intercultural communication and intervention with the First Peoples, all while becoming aware of the major issues and current concerns of the Indigenous world. As such, the Certificate in Indigenous Studies is intended as much for First Peoples who would like to learn more about their cultures, their history and their development, as it is for non-Indigenous people who work with Indigenous people or want to work in communities, or who simply want to know more about the subject.

The purposes of this program are (among others) to allow for the acquisition of knowledge related to the Indigenous world; to ensure a better understanding of issues related to Indigenous cultural diversity and of issues related to development involving Indigenous peoples; to develop a critical sense of, and open-mindedness to, Indigenous realities; to facilitate relationships and exchanges between Indigenous and non-Indigenous people; to develop intercultural communication skills; to identify and reinforce the cultural identities of the different Indigenous peoples; to develop tools for intervention which respect certain basic principles related to the community and cultural values of the First Peoples; to acquire a basic knowledge of a language belonging to one or more Indigenous nations.
